Principal's Message

Teamwork is hailed as the key which will solve the perplexing problems of this postwar world. Teamwork will also solve many of your individual problems both in school and in later life.

The Mimir, our La Grande High School Annual, is a fine cooperative effort and one of the best examples of teamwork in our school. It has been fun for the seniors to get out the Mimir and they have profited by working harmoniously together. I hope all La Grande High School students will have many happy memories in the future when they look at their Mimir.

History of Class

Our Freshman year was probably our most eventful year. There were one hundred and sixty-three of us. We managed to elect Glenn Houle president. We had a swell class.

Next was a rally for football: 'nuff said about that. Our class had one man on the football team, Bob Terry. At the end of the year most of us passed. Vacation arrived.

On September fourth the class came together again. We had attained superior knowledge of the world. The average growth in height was about three inches during our vacation and about 300% brain matter per person. We elected our president to be Bob Terry. This year our athletes played an important part in football; several made their letters. We won the pep contest.

As Juniors we were sedate and looked with disdain upon the silly pranks of the sophomores and freshmen.

We had to work hard to keep up with those peppy seniors. Our class president was Leland Johnsen. The football team was runners-up for state champs; we had fifteen men on it showing their stuff. The basketball team had a hard time and four of its members were juniors. We won the track meet this year. We put on the junior play which consisted of five one-act plays. The proceeds of these successful plays went to make the junior-senior prom.

On September 4, 1945, we came again to attend, for the last year, our old L. H. S., under the presidency of Bill Hall. We had grown in knowledge, size and strength, but in numbers we had decreased. The duty of upholding the honor of the school in athletics has largely fallen upon our shoulders. Our success we lay to our pep and spirit and to the people of ability who aided and counseled with us. Our football team was composed largely of seniors. Our basketball team was composed of mostly seniors also.

Several of the students are out for track. The other things of important are the "senior teach day", and the establishment of our "tradition."

As our school days are drawing to a close, we are more than reluctant to leave old L. H. S.

This is the governing organization of the high school. It is composed of all the students of the school who have purchased student body tickets for the school year. These tickets permit the students to attend all football, basketball and track events.

The officers are elected by popular balloting at the end of each school year for the following year. These officers, with the help of the advisors, manage all affairs of the school as far as athletics, entertainments, and other activities are concerned.

Girls' League

The Girls' League is an organization to which all the girls of the high school become members. The aim of the League is to create a closer relationship among the girls and to give each member a deeper insight into developing a worth-while character and higher ideals.

The Girls' League has certain wholesome amusements such as parties, programs of music and dances held in the high school gym.

Each year the Girls' League does various things to provide money and help the needy.

Football

"All men out for football," sounded through the halls of L. H. S. the first week of school. Down in the varsity room the Tigers began their first battle of the season. This was the outfitting of suits. After outfitting most of the players with the suits that were on hand the rest of the men brought old clothes from home. The first week was used to show most of the men what a football is, and the rest of the time was taken up with calisthenics.

Eight second stringers were back this year to take another crack at football. They were: Ends, Willard Schilling and George Bohnenkamp; tackles, Bob West and Don Smith; guard, Bob Stein; center, Phil Ward; backs, Hershal Malone and Ken Smith.

Almost all of the men were new at football, but they had the "tiger spirit," and went to The Dalles to do their best. The Tigers did their best, but after a strong battle they came out 13-0, loser in the first game.

The next game was with Baker at Baker. The Tigers again did their best but the Baker Bulldogs went on to win a 19 to 13 decision.

To most teams, two defeats at the first of the season would have disillusioned them completely, but not the fighting Tigers who went forth against Mac High on La Grande's own field. The Tigers walked away from the Pioneers of Mac High and beat them 20 to 0. This was the first victory of the season.

The Pendleton team came over and found a much improved team. The Tigers and the Bucks scrapped through four quarters of rugged playing to a 12 to 12 tie.

Mac High had another chance at the Tigers on Mac High's own field. The Pioneers played a hard game but the Tigers came from behind in the last minute to defeat the Pioneers 21 to 19.

Each game the Tigers got better and better, gaining more experience and playing a better game. La Grande played the Pendleton Bucks on the Bucks' field. This time there was no tie. The Tigers beat them 7 to 6.

The La Grande Tigers suffered their most crushing defeat at the hands of the Boise High School Braves, 42 to 12.

The last game of the season was with the Baker Bulldogs. During the first half Baker lead 6 to 0. During the second half of the game the Tigers came back to beat the Bulldogs 14 to 6.

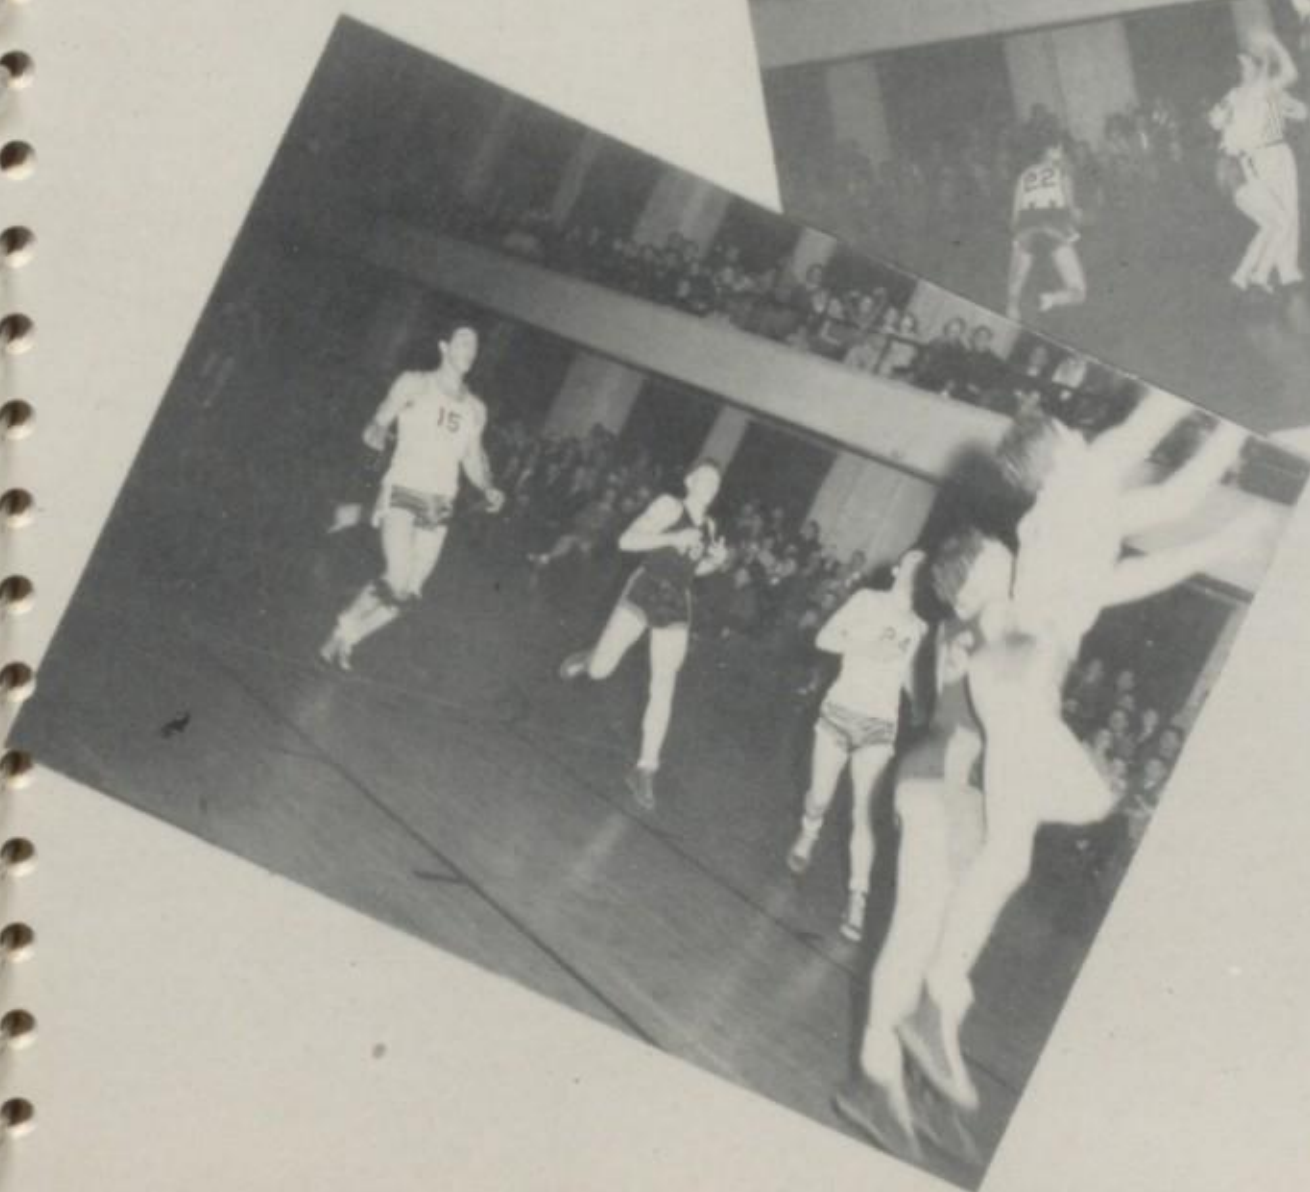

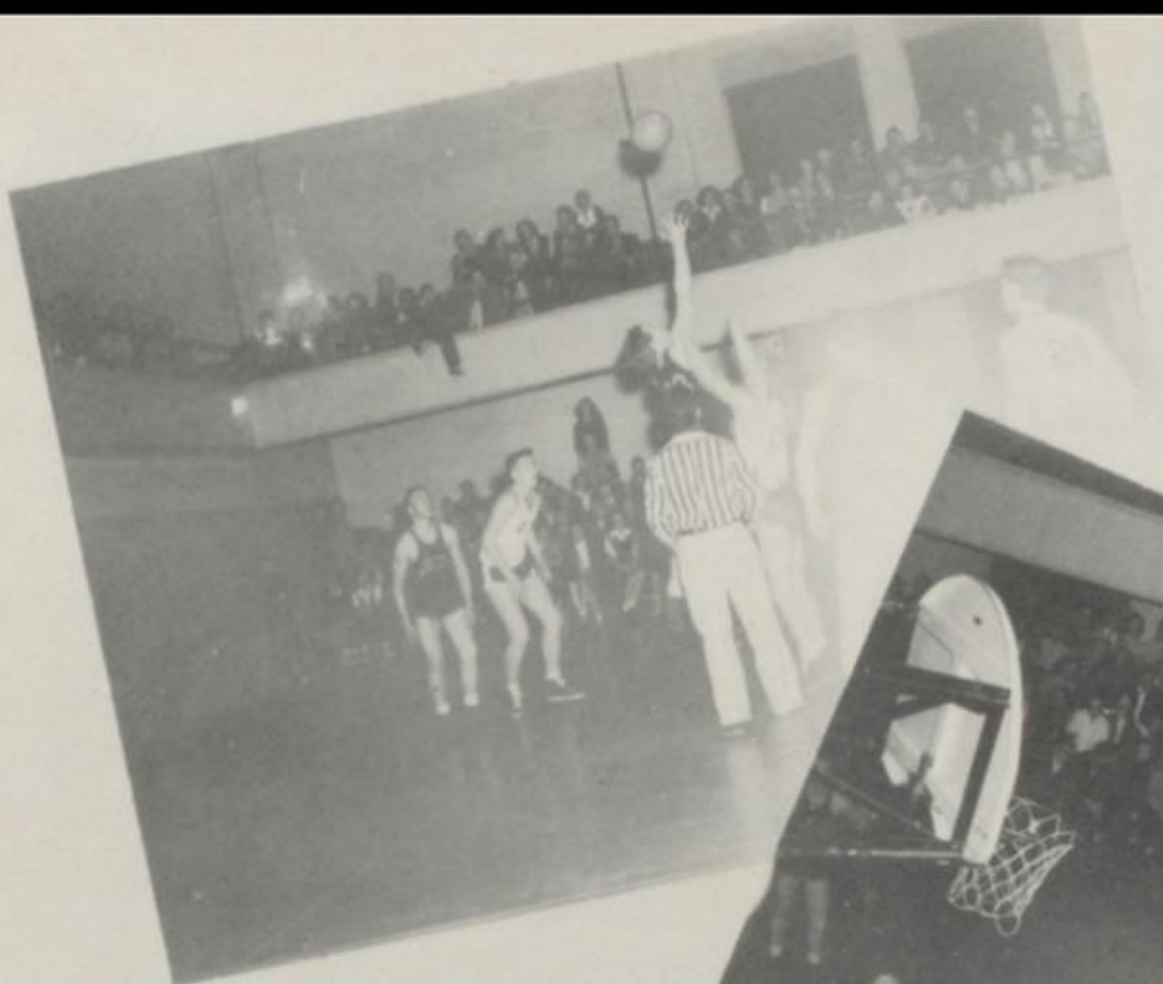

The football season ended very successfully for the school and the team. La Grande won the championship of the Blue Mountain League.

The players that were back from last year were Bill Coleman, Bob West, Willard Schilling, Oscar Shoemake, Phil Ward, Fred Jarrard, and Herschal Malone. The La Grande Tigers won 22 games out of 29. Nice going, fellows!

Coach Bob Quinn has been coaching at the Eastern Oregon College, but he found time and patience to coach the La Grande Tigers in basketball.

He used the fast break system of play throughout the entire year. The La Grande Tigers, under his coaching, have been the best team since 1940. He has a full schedule at the college next year so will be unable to coach the La Grande Tigers. The boys are losing a grand coach.

Our L. H. S.

BELIEVE ME, OH STUDENTS OF HIGH SCHOOL,
THERE ARE NO DAYS LIKE SCHOOL DAYS FOR YOU.
L. H. S. WITH YOUR PLEASURES AND TROUBLES,
TO YOU I SHALL ALWAYS BE TRUE.
VACATIONS ARE NICE IN THEIR OWN WAY,
IT'S NICE TO BE FREE FROM ALL RULE,
BUT YET I FEEL HONORED TO BE HERE,
A MEMBER AND STUDENT OF SCHOOL.

YOU FRESHMEN—THE SENIORS MAY TAUNT YOU,
SOPHS—THINGS MAY NOT GO JUST RIGHT,
IT'S ONE PLACE YOU DON'T DARE TO SLIGHT.
BUT FOR YOU THERE IS NO PLACE QUITE LIKE IT,
YOU WORK HARD—AND YET HERE ARE PLEASURES.
JUST THE "SPIRIT" OF SCHOOL—HOW IT THRILLS!
WE SAY THAT IT'S "DEAD", BUT THAT'S OUR FAULT,
IT'S THE LACK OF AMBITION THAT KILLS

AND JUNIORS AND SENIORS—WE'LL MISS YOU,
IN SPITE OF YOUR DOMINANT WAYS,
WE LOOK TO SEE EACH OF YOU RANK HIGH,
BUT FORGET NOT THESE JOYOUS SCHOOL DAYS.
AND YOU WARRIORS WHO FOUGHT ON THE GRIDIRON,
OR DEFENDED THE SCHOOL NAME IN THE GYM,
YOU'RE AN HONOR AND CREDIT TO HIGH SCHOOL,
YOU MEN WITH THE PEP AND THE VIM.

L. H. S.—SCENE OF YOUTHFUL ENDEAVOR,
YOU'RE NOT QUITE AS FINE AS COULD BE,
THO NOT HUGE AND SURELY NOT PERFECT,
YOU'RE THE BEST IN THE WHOLE WORLD TO ME.
ALL MY HOURS THERE, WITH STUDY AND LEARNING,
AND THE DAYS WITH THE "GANG" I CONFESS,
ARE THE HAPPIEST ONES I HAVE SPENT YET,
AND I OWE IT TO YOU—L. H. S.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of La Grande High School, being of sound mind and memory, and praying that we may leave this temple of learning in the month of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-six and no cents, bequeath upon the underclassmen the sum total of our earthly possessions, goods, character, and indebtedness to the full extent of the law.

ARTICLE I

To the institution as a whole we leave our path of destruction behind us, hoping that they will forgive us.

ARTICLE II

To Mr. Jones and the faculty we leave our sympathy. They have forced upon us four years of hard labor, and with their struggle in graduating our class, we hope they are satisfied.

ARTICLE III

To the juniors we leave our "traditions" and the dignity they must uphold in the word "senior" which we now place upon their sturdy little shoulders.

ARTICLE IV

To the sophomores we leave the burden of the "junior prom" and the honor of being an upper classman.

ARTICLE V

To the freshmen congregation we leave our deepest regrets for establishing "the tradition" which they must uphold for four years.

ARTICLE VI

The members of the class, because of the many treasured possessions in their keeping, feel it their explicit duty to make the following bequeaths:

BETTY AMBROSE leaves to join the circus to take the place of "Two-Ton Betty."

Class Prophecy

Miss Una Mae Stoyka,
President of National Honor Society,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Una Mae:

March 6, 1965

Being dean at Vassar College has given me a great opportunity to travel. Among my many trips all over the world I have come in contact with many of our classmates of '46. I know you will be interested, so I'll tell you about some of our old friends.

I just returned from a visit with Francis and Gerry Rohan. They are happily married and own an ostrich farm in Pasadena, California. For expense money, Gerry is busy making hats from the ostrich plumes.

This summer while I was visiting in San Francisco, who should I see but Dot Chidsey sitting on the docks singing, "Waitin' For the Fleet to Come In."

Howard Bicket is living in Hollywood and has just finished directing the movie, "Forever Amber."

I also saw Jackie Dorrington now happily married and busy rearing a baseball team.

Phyllis Moss Blackman and her husband are operating a small fish market in Astoria, Oregon.

In an odd little tree house on the top of Mt. Emily I found Louise Thomas End happily married.

The Modern Laundry is owned by Betty Ambrose, and she plans to buy out all other laundries.

Guess what? Myrna and Max Kilgore own a twelve passenger Rolls-Royce for the ten little Kilgores. Max is coach at Union High School.

Remember Barbara Greene? She is the head nurse at the Johnsen Sanitarium, owned and operated by Dr. Lee Johnsen. Pat Riggs works there too. She entertains the patients by dancing like a doll. (It must be the hole in her stocking.)

I was on my way to visit Wayne Bell, who by the way is salt prospecting in Salt Lake City. He just knows there is salt there.

When I saw Phyllis McLaughlin, she was raising sheep—still trying to pull the wool over the boys' eyes.

The latest on Harriet Crist is that she is in Paris rapidly becoming famous for her originality in new hair styles.

Ross Wilson is still trying hard to obtain his ambition to be housemother at Dorion Hall.

I hear Georgia Kaup now owns a summer resort in the Catskills. Bob Wagner, her advertising manager makes these boasts of her resort—"Come to High Anima in the Catskills—You'll have a high old time—Highest Elevation—Highest Mountains—Highest Temperatures—Highest Prices."

Doyle Jordan is cheer leader at Yale University.

I traveled eastward to Idaho and to look at that girl dig. Seven years of digging those Idaho spuds hasn't changed Barbara Carroll one bit.

A few miles from Las Vegas I found the famous rancher, Vern Peebler. He is still mining for borax in his cactus garden, and on the adjoining ranch we find Nancy Combs still in the running and trying hard for top billing in Vern's affections.

Bruce Pierson is still traveling all over the United States with a women's professional swimming team.

Speaking of professions—Willard Schilling is now running for United States Senator against Mr. L. Smith, a former teacher of L. H. S.

Carol Swart is a famous crystal gazer. I thought she planned to be a teacher.

I saw Charlotte "Limp-as-a-rag" Spiker yesterday. She is running a school teaching jui jitsu for former marines.

She told me that Barbara Skala now has a two-ring circus of her own, starring Jean Courtney as "The Tiger Woman."

Saturday, I saw Beverly Smith; she is a conductor on the "Rocket Ship Buck Rogers", taking daily flights from the earth to Mars.

On my way out to see her, who did I see but Ken Goss swinging off his truck with a shiny garbage can. He owns a big hog farm in Iowa.

Jeanne Bergeron has won first prize for the tallest story of the year, sponsored by the National Liars Club of America.

In Milton, Oregon, I found Corinne Butler, the proud owner of the Rogers Pea Cannery. All of her experiences were due to her summers there.

Dorothy Crist is living in La Grande and is the new owner of the Granada.

I hear Pat Crampton is living in Maine with a good market for her cultured pearls for which she is quite famous.

While traveling in the west I met Vern Hale on his way to Hollywood with ambitions to take Ray Milland's place in the second filming of the "Lost Weekend."

Lowell Cade is still trying to invent an airplane for two that is guaranteed to stop in mid-air for those who like to take the "Long Way Home."

At E. O. C. E. I found Doris Carpenter teaching the new system of shorthand to a class for males only.

Remember back in 1945 we used to hear of Earl Carroll's Vanities? But the rage of today is West's Besties owned by Bob (Don Juan) West.

Phil Ward is now coaching a football team of all-stars at Oklahoma University.

Betty Chaffin is living in Kerwin, Kansas, and has just completed her prize winning novel, "The Sex Life of a Tulip."

While I was in Michigan, I happened to see the auto races and saw Clayton Carpenter win another derby.

In Texas I saw Ella Jean Cade. She owns a cockle-burr farm and is making a small fortune by selling them to Hollywood for porcupine eggs.

When I started my tour of Europe, I first stopped in Florence, Italy, where I met Marilyn Chandler. She is a famous Metropolitan Opera Star. I saw her in the opera "Carmen" in which she had the leading role and sang, "She'll Be Carmen 'Round the Mountain."

My next surprise was when I was going to China. I heard that Joyce Harrison is still climbing mountains in Asia—some day she will set a record. Speaking of records reminds me—I saw Wallace Huffman and his three-piece jazz orchestra at a radio broadcast on station O P U.

Lowell Chandler is on the Gobi Desert, and is now the proud owner of a camel carivan, transporting nuts and dates. He entertains his passengers by singing, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes."

After I left you in Paris, I was able to get a ride with Betty Murray; she had just bought a PT boat from the war department and was going after Lowell.

Beverly Mellinger, finding fault in Henna's latest rinse, was seen heading for the Aleutian Islands with green hair.

Don Yeske has made a fortune in photography, but we can't figure out why he still drives the car he had in his high school days at L. H. S. Maybe it holds fond memories.

Russ Myers and his well-known Myer's Maids have completely put Varga and Petty out of the picture.

I found Winiefred Crowley, a well-known business executive, running a line of ferries along the Great Lakes as a hobby, with matrimony her real ambition in life.

Way up in Colorado on a desolate skunk farm I saw Alicia Arrieta with a double-barreled shotgun over her knees. She is on the lookout for "Dead Eye" Duffin who is at large for holding up traffic.

I saw Vernon Carpenter resting up before starting his yearly trip to Canada. Being a hobo in these days proves very profitable by the looks of his estate in Florida, where he resides with his wife during the winter months.

These are the only ones I remember seeing. When you write, tell me all about the old classmates you have seen.

As ever, Verna.

July 24, 1965

Miss Verna Vickers, Dean of Women, Vassar College,
North Hampton, New York.

Dear Verna:

I received your letter and was very much interested in the news of our classmates of '46. I, too, have seen many of them.

Neva Pyle is still at college working for a degree of H. H. (Home Hunter).

Just a little bit south of North Carolina, under a palm tree resides Jim Bennett, owner of a big tobacco plantation—a mint julep in one hand, a blond in the other.

This will really surprise you. Bill Hall started out to see the world series, but ran out of money and is now a butler to Ann Kofford who lives in the Waldorf-Astoria. Ann is married to a French count.

I saw Loris Titus in New York. He is madly trying to take Frank Sinatra's place; his wife Fern McCabe is eagerly selling pencils to support him.

When I boarded my plane which was going to Spain, I met Jennette Renoe who is an airline hostess.

Ina Mae Walter was tracing her ancestry back to ancient times, but gave up when she found that she was related to Black Beard.

I stopped at San Quentin to see if I knew anyone, and I talked to Keith Hawn who is the warden and is teaching knitting to the inmates.

While I was in Washington, D. C., I saw Herschel Malone—yes, he is in the Whitehouse—head janitor.

Traveling through China in a rickshaw is exciting, especially with Lee Graham pulling it.

I heard Lorna Leffel and her husband reside in Mexico where they raise cane.

Nellie Wilson is engineer on the Portland Rose. Guess we know who wears the pants in her family.

She told me that Linnea Smutz is raising chickens on a small farm. This has always been her ambition.

In South America Hoyle Jordan is just resting before he hops another freight.

Happily married are Glenn Houle and Francis Voruz who are very well known in the musical world as "Frankie Voruz' Band featuring Glenn Houle."

While visiting Billie True and her tribe—you know she married the indian chief instead of the doctor or lawyer and is living happily in a wigwam on the Youmatellum Indian Reservation. She told me about Bettie Van Blokland who is getting her sixth divorce and says she will never marry again.

At Coney Island I found Ruth Williams, the proud owner of a hot dog stand.

In Algiers I saw Don Smith nad his wife living in the Casaba. He was Charles Boyer's stand-in.

When I stopped in Elgin, I met Ken Halverson who is married and owns a radish patch.

Neil Daniels is living in North Powder and owns a small service station.

While I was in London, I saw Don Davidson who is going to school at Oxford. He just can't seem to get enough education.

Aglah Davis is a traveling saleswoman and specializes in Homogenized dish-water. She told me Jack Evans is living in a cave in Siberia and is a hermit. He has given up women.

Leal Graham is still going to school at L. H. S. There just isn't any other way to catch up on his lost sleep.

As I traveled through the South, I met Val Wolverton in New Orleans where he is picking cotton.

Joan Rabdau was chosen the "Woman of the Year" for her scientific achievement of the year. She invented "Dehydrated Snuff."

The next time you turn on your radio listen to Dick Snider's program, "Believe It Or Else."

La Grande's new mayor is Audrey Winslow and her greatest problem is the "Sewerage System."

Another one of our schoolmates is an author. It is Ann Patty, who wrote the book, "They Were Expandable."

Wilma Byer is a specialized corn husker.

I heard Lorraine Hoehne is in Portland and is working in the "Blue Mouse Theatre", as cashier, and filling out income tax blanks on the side.

Kermit Hulse is making up lost time and is sowing his wild oats.

Calvin Love is a defective detectice in La Grande. He told me Arthur Thompson is a feline specialist at Oregon State College.

Bob Stein bought the Stein Coffee Shop so he wouldn't have to change the signs.

Anita Johnston, another of our old classmates is married and is living in "My Old Kentucky Home. She rents it for $50.00 a month.

Lloyd Hill and Bud Hiatt are in business together. They have a combination ice pond and swimming pool.

Geraline Kilborn is traveling with her husband the year around. They have to because it isn't proper to stay with your friends more than a month.

As I passed through Mississippi, I heard that Raymond McMillan was traveling with "The Show Boat."

When I saw Pete Meredith in North Carolina, trying to start another Civil War, I was certainly surprised.

Ula Metsopulas has taken Miss Schaper's place at L. H. S. and is very disgusted with the juveniles.

The "Tutti-Fruitti" ice cream parlor is owned by Jimmie White.

Florence Morgan is suing J. P. Morgan for using her name.

In Africa I saw La Vera Washburn getting ready for a big lion hunt.

The sensational Broadway play, "Little Red Riding Hood" is being played by Velva Jean Riding.

I was really surprised when I saw Perry Robinette in Hong Kong learning the art of Chinese cooking.

Robert Scully is a noted artist and has just completed his masterpiece and has named it, "The Teacher."

As I stood on the 75th floor of the Empire State Building, I saw Wanda Smith starting the long journey down and she says it's very good for your figure.

I ate lunch at the Stork Club where Merton Taylor is bouncer and owes his experience to his high school days when he had to fight off the girls.

As I walked outside it was snowing and I knew it was near Christmas time. The Salvation Army had their bucket out and as I passed by I dropped a coin in. I looked up into the face of the girl watching the kettle and behind that bonnet was Erin Simmons. She always said she was going to join the Salvation Army.

I've told you about all of our friends I have seen, so write if you meet any more.

Love, Una Mae

A Senior Love Story

The day was soft and balmy at the old La Grande High School. The birds were Carroll-ing in the tree-tops and a gentle West-ern breeze was sweeping over the Lee. Two lovers, deeply in Love, decided to take a stroll. They climbed up the Greene Hill and stood on the Fern covered bank of a little brook. The lover was a manly and handsome person, but slightly inclined to bragg, and often said things which made his sweetheart think him not True.

He told her of his wonderful physical powers and said, "How, dear, would you cross this brook without my aid?"

She answered, "To be perfectly Frank, I'd wade."

At this response, he grew silent and began to think of the future. What would he do after he had graduated? There were so many professions one could take up. He might become a Carpenter, a Kaup, a Taylor, or even a Butler if it paid good money. If it was in the earlier days he might settle down to be a Smith and be satisfied because there were few professions. Finally he spoke, "Do you know, I think people of old led better lives than we.

Adjusting the Combs in her hair she answered, "I don't think so," and then picked a Bud from a wild rose bush growing near by. Both became silent. All that could be heard was the faint sound of a school Bell and the Winnie of a horse in a nearby Glenn.

Here Malone came upon the scene, Ann-a jealous discussion arose. Malone said, "I love her", and her lover said, "You better start Riding or I'll cut your head off."

Here appeared Stein, who said, "Boy's you must not fight over her because I intend to take her myself." But along came Bettie and he didn't.

Malone, the villian of our story, was intending to kill the lover, but the engine of his stolen car blew up and—well, poor, poor Malone. A piece of stone sprained the girl's ankle, so she couldn't walk and her lover had to carry her. She grew very White but regained her color when he plucked her a rose and gave it to her. She afterward hung the blossom on the Chand-lier.

When the lovers got home they were very tired. The next day the World read the report of the thrilling adventure in the "La Grande Evening Observer" and where the two lovers were to Mary Ann live happily ever after.
